FOREWORD

HERE are your future memories caught as they hurried across the narrow threshold of the present into the twilight country of the past. ,

We have endeavored to present T. J. C. as we should always like to remember it, and as we want everyone to know it. And though the days are gone, we know that all the turmoil of events which made the year will live in memory. , , ,

The book has been created for you. Its success depends upon your reception. We hold the mirror to your view. , , , , ,

*We're Apache tribesmen,
Dauntless, brave and strong.
To defend our Totem Pole,
We would suffer long.
Gathered 'round our Council Fire,
We smoke our pipe of peace.
Real Atta Kula Kula's we—
'Till life's pow-wow we cease.*

*We will be real red men,
Honoring our band.
We will make our tomahawks
Feared throughout the land.
To our sacred Hunting Ground
We give this song of praise;
Her unstained Black and Gold
Shall reign throughout our days.*

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

With the closing of this year, the Tyler Junior College will complete its eighth year of service. Hundreds of young people who have attended the college during this brief period of its existence have not only qualified for work in the business and professional world, but have achieved worthwhile distinction in their work. The opportunities you are now enjoying you will not fully realize nor appreciate until time has given you a new perspective; but if you are doing each task well here, building a solid and unyielding foundation, you will find success inevitable.

Realizing from its past record that the college has influenced to high endeavor the young people who have passed through its doors, the Board of Education and the Faculty believe that the greatest service the college could render would be to extend its influence so that all young men and young women of the community may have the privilege of securing at least two years of college work. Because such a provision would encourage and strengthen its cultural and civic standing, we have set as our goal for Tyler and the surrounding community a larger and better junior college.

The present membership of the Girls' Forum of Tyler consists of four hundred and fifty high school girls and seventy from the Junior College. This organization was established November 23, 1931. The idea was conceived by Mrs. Ernest Goens, president of the Tyler Woman's Forum at that time, and was first under the leadership of Miss Adele Henderson. The Girls' Forum became a member of the Federated Clubs November 1, 1932. Miss Elizabeth was the first president of the Forum and Misses Sunshine Neeley, Martha Shuford, and Mary Louise Todd have followed her in the order named. The president of the Tyler Woman's Forum is the town sponsor of the Girls' Forum. These sponsors have been Mrs. Ernest Goens and Mrs. Roy Page. Faculty sponsors are elected by the members of the Forum and have been Miss Adele Henderson (for two years), Miss Aileen Griffin, and Miss Lucia Douglas.

In the Forum there are ten clubs which meet weekly or bi-weekly. The interest in the Club is stimulated by worthwhile educational programs presented every month.

Its constitution, written and adopted in 1931, gives the purpose of the organization: "Through congenial activity we aim to foster the development of our better selves in order to become better members of society." A spirit of friendliness and cooperation has been developed, eliminating any rivalry which may have previously existed between the various clubs. The executive board, which consists of the officers, the sponsor, the committee chairman appointed by the president, and the presidents of the clubs within the Forum, constitutes the business body of the organization.

Members of this board are: the officers and sponsor listed above; the committee chairman, Lola Lee Roberts, Bernice Gullick, Wynelle Hodges, Frances Connally, Jane Judge, Betty Ann Faulkner, Dixie Alexander, Martha Shuford, and Mary Leach. The club presidents from the College are: Literary Workshop, Mary Ethel Baker; W. A. A., Melba Brooks; A. K. K., Mary Ethel Baker. The presidents of the high school clubs are: Girls' Graduate Club, Sue Dean; Dramatic Club, Loris Bryson; Library Club, Sara Smith; High Ideals Club, Dorothy Brookshire; Pep Squad, Frances Connally.

ENGINEERS' CLUB

The Engineers Club was organized to promote a spirit of fairness among its members and to develop high ideals of courtesy and personal honor.

Each year the club sponsors several field trips. The most interesting and enjoyable trip this year was the trip to the "Texas Oil Products" plant. After the distillation process had been explained by the plant superintendent, the club members were entertained at Mr. W. H. Harrison's lodge, three miles west of Gladewater.

Again this year, the club, in conjunction with the Pre-Law Club, sponsored the T. J. C. Minstrel, which proved to be the laugh sensation of the year.

(It really works.)

Put down the number of your living brothers; multiply by two; add three; multiply by five; add the number of your living sisters; multiply the result by ten; now add the number of your dead brothers and sisters, if any; subtract 150. The right-hand figure tells you the number of deaths, the middle figure is the number of sisters you have living, while the figure to the left gives the number of your living brothers.

OF A JUNIOR COLLEGE STUDENT

November 19, 1934.

PULLED out of bed shortly after eight, fired up the old bus and rushed to college. Gulpd down a Coca-Cola and a bar of candy at the pharmacy. Rushed to library to gather (from classmates) a small portion of knowledge on my various subjects. Amid the rustling of paper and shuffling of feet, I could hear an occasional remark such as, "Hello, Judge, how are you this fine morning; as I live and breathe!" A few hearty handshakes accompanied this remark. Ever-vigilant ears distinguished a noise, and came the warning "No talking in the library, boys." I immediately retired to the buzzard roost to continue my studying. Along with the National Courts, I absorbed the outstanding plays of Friday's high school football game. The nine o'clock bell rang and I repaired to my first period to do or die, mostly die. After a very stimulating hour of government, I dashed to my next class. On my way, I frantically asked several students if they had a test. Upon finding that they did, I raced swiftly through my book, trying to find the answers to the various questions. After taking the test and making a very low grade, Miss Brandenburg informed me that as I couldn't understand plain English, she didn't see how I pulled through government and economics. Next, along came Eco, so I prepared for the customary test. However, Miss Henderson decided to explain market and mint ratio of gold and silver. Immediately a hot argument sprang up and heated words flew hither and thither about the room. The war of pamphlets of 1776 was fairly left in the shade. Clarence Harrison, J. O. Toler, and Leo Davis were finally informed by Miss Henderson that they were "all talking about different things," and this settled the argument, at least for the time being. The look that accompanied the traditional test then came into Miss Mary's eye, but we were saved by the bell.

After calling desperately at several passing cars, I finally got a ride and almost a broken neck (the result of T. J. Fraley's kindness). One o'clock found me perched again on the roost gayly waiting whatever might come my way. And who should I hear blabbin' in the distance but "Snake" Blake; as she came nearer, I made out these words, "Woe is me." Close at her heels galloped "Brainless" Baker, devouring a huge jar of mustard. As the hour of two slowly approached, I ambled down to the tennis court to watch the coming stars. "Too-Tall" Rasco was calling out the strikes and Verlee Harton and Mary Louise Todd were going through all kinds of antics in an effort to get the ball over the net, which is, I believe, the idea of the game, although one would never know it to watch the above pair play. I decided to visit the dramatic club. To my surprise, I found Conner Russell disguised under a blanket of lather and Betty Ann Faulkner playing at kisses with a Boston Bull pup. Donnell Kerr dashed back and forth across the stage with an uplifted razor in his hand. Backstage, Miss Howell tugged at her hair in utter disgust at her "ham" actors, so I departed from the hurly-burly scene. School life being over for one day, I journeyed home and made a raid on the ice box. My hunger being satisfied, I took a short nap of forty winks. Later on, the phone rang and a buddy of mine wanted me to go to the show, but I said I had to study. I pulled out the old books to study, but the gang came by, so I decided to get my lessons early in the morning. I drug in and tumbled into bed after so many hours of sweet recreation.

YE OLDE CALENDAR

SEPTEMBER

- 14—Registration Day! Oh, MY! What a schedule!
- 24—Las Mascaras meet and organize.
- 27—First assembly. Papooses initiated. Impressive ceremony. (??)

OCTOBER

- 2—Pre-Laws meet and organize. Only one "Judgess"?
- 4—W. A. A. Get-Acquainted Party in the Gym.
- 12—Rose Festival celebrations. A holiday. "To the rose fields!"
- 29—Las Mascaras starts practice on plays.
- 30—W. A. A. meets. We're to have a Tennis Club.

NOVEMBER

- 12—Las Mascaras president "gets gay."
- 15—Martha Shuford sent as a princess to Harvest Festival at Marshall.
- 20—Special Senior meeting to discuss means of raising funds for the annual.
- 24—Benefit Bridge for the annual. A swell party.
- 26—Las Mascaras meeting is just a discussion of "Dollars to Doughnuts."
- 28—Annual Pre-Laws and Engineers Club Minstrel. More fun!
- 29 and 30—State Teachers Association. Our Big Chiefs attend.

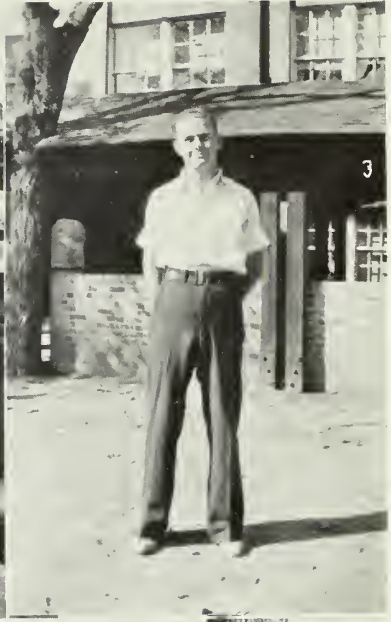

DECEMBER

- 6—Alumni meeting.
- 7—"Dollars to Doughnuts" given and proves to be a big success.
- 14—Girls' Forum Christmas Program.
- 18—A basketball game at last! Just a warm-up affair with Canton, and the high school boys just couldn't take it!
- 20—Annual Christmas Party in the Gym. Old Santa was in good spirits. In fact, we'd never seen such a Santa Claus. Ask Clarence (Santa Claus) Harrison!
- 21—School closes for Christmas vacation. That's the first good news we've heard since last May! Let's relax.

JANUARY, 1935

- 2—School daze again. Our breathing spell was TOO short because we're all LATE.
- 15—We take Gilmer in a basketball game.
- 18—Finals begin! Woe is us! Can we make it????
- 25 and 26—Mid-term Registration. After those finals we're lucky IF we register.
- 25—Tyler wins first conference game from Westminster.
- 28—Classes begin. All this to do over again? No, NO, a thousand times NO! But just one more thing—
- 30—RED LETTER DAY! THE "APACHE" GOES TO THE PUBLISHERS!! (For once in our lives not "LATE.")

Who's had a test, Mr. Poston?
A friend in need is a friend indeed.
Happy as if he had good sense.
Auction sale, Conner?

Let's all sing like the birdies sing.
I just can't believe it's true.

THE TOM-TOM

THE Apache Mansos decided last year, after being convinced that nothing could be more symbolic of the constant, never-failing progress of our school, to donate as a gift from their tribe, a tom-tom. It is this tom-tom—this symbol of constancy, to which all true Apache ears reverently turn, to which all true Apache hearts vigorously stir, and about which all true Apache tribes can proudly boast.

It is of little importance to the reverent Apache that it was constructed by stretching two pieces of plain cow hide tightly over the ends of what was once an old nail keg. In the imaginative mind of the Apache, he can see Indian squaws, braves, and papooses quietly seated around a glowing fire smoking the pipe of peace with the tom-tom in their midst. It has come to connote all the characteristics and symbols of Indian life and consequently all the traditions of our Apache-land.

It is doubtful whether or not the council which presented this gift to the school realized at the time how valuable it would become, but it is certain that those Apache tribesmen which leave our reservation will find the tom-tom, with its enchanting, unchanging rhythm hard to forget. The tribesmen love their tom-tom not for what it is but for what it stands for—the faith, loyalty, and strength it symbolizes, the dignity it retains, and the respect it inspires and promotes.

*Now let's march on Atta Kula Kulas
Laughing and talking on our way
For those who're duller and have no color
Should come and join us in our play.*

*They'll never know what they are missing
Until they've tried us for a day.
Rah! Rah! for Atta! Rah! Rah! for Kula
Rah! Rah! We are the A. K. K.*

All things must come to a close, and so the Editor and Business Manager bid you adieu. There is an old Spanish saying that the two above mentioned "Chumps" should leave town as soon as the book goes to press, so you see them on their way to darkest Africa.

This picture shows the way they would like to leave town—

But—this is the way they had to leave!!!

If you are not satisfied with the book, if the wrong name appears under your picture, or even if your picture is left out, you can address your complaints to Morocco, Africa.
